Art Unit: 2857

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

2. Claims 1-13 are again rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter and the claimed invention lacks patentable utility.

Please be advised that the "Interim Guidelines for Examination of Patent Applications for Subject Matter Eligibility" was signed on Oct 26, 2005 and posted on the uspto gov website. The link is:

http://www.uspto.gov/web/offices/pac/dapp/ogsheet.html

Also see updated MPEP 2106, which covers algorithm and computer implemented inventions and the manner in which they may be claimed and find statutory basis under 35 U.S.C. 101.

Note the claims do not recite any requirement of computer implementation. However, even if there were such claimed basis, they would still fail to meet the latest Guidelines criteria for having statutory basis in any type of claimed invention for algorithm based inventions. These claims fail to meet the minimal requirement of a useful, concrete and tangible result of a real physical world interactive end result supported by any algorithm steps, or structure supporting such calculated step, where the end result limitation/data supports the invention being used in a practical useful, concrete and tangible real world combination manner.

Applicants' claims remain non-statutory as amended as they still lack a physical transformation of the final calculation result of the method algorithm, thus lacking a useful, concrete and tangible result within the real physical world. The claims therefore remain merely directed to calculations and falling as a judicial exception (law of nature, abstract idea, naturally occurring article/phenomenon) as non-statutory subject matter.

- 3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:
 The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
- 4. Claims 1-13 are again rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

See the above remarks as the claims remain non-statutory and likewise still fail to comply with section 112.

Claim 1 preamble states the claim is directed to a method for determining resistivity in a geological formation crossed by a cased well. However, while body of the claim may state a final resistivity being calculated of such nature, the body of the claim still is incomplete for omitting essential steps of ever accomplishing the a tangible, concrete and useful interaction of such calculated result, and such omission amounting to a gap between the steps and the potential statutory invention using such calculation. See MPEP § 2172.01.

5. Claim 13 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form. Subject to the fourth paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112, a claim in dependent form shall contain a reference to a claim previously set forth and then specify a further limitation of the subject matter claimed. Claim 13 fails to comply with such fourth paragraph, as it begins with something entirely different than a prior claim and then adds limitations including reference to a prior claim. The format of this claim also makes it indefinite as to whether the method steps of the parent claim are even required, or merely the calculated result of the parent claim is the only item being used therefrom, thus it cannot be determined what exactly applicant intends as the claimed combination to be covered. Since the claim appears to require all steps for the calculation component used, it must therefore clearly recite all parent claim steps as an independent claim, or be amended to start with the parent claim subject and then its own as a proper dependent claim.

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
